

Alyssa Bryant

From: Jeff Cox
Sent: Monday, January 25, 2016 9:27 AM
To: Alyssa Bryant
Subject: FW: Media portrait of zoo

From: Richard Paulson [mailto:rpaulson524@aol.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 23, 2016 9:25 PM
To: Council
Subject: Media portrait of zoo

Councilors,

I was in the cities visiting an ill son & read the USA Today's state-by-state page for Minnesota Duluth dated 1/22/2016. Here is the page: Three proposed plans for the Lake Superior Zoo here were presented for the city's St. Louis River Corridor project, WDIO-TV reported. The city had been considering the option of transforming the zoo into a different kind of public place, such as an adventure park or a park with an event center or amphitheater.

Is this really what is happening to the Lake Superior Zoo? What will all the readers of the USA Today think?

Have the Lake Superior Zoo members agreed to have the zoo be a part of the St. Louis River Corridor project? I for one was unaware of this until reading the article yesterday & I strongly oppose it until all the facts are given to the public.

Sincerely,

Richard Paulson
rpaulson524@aol.com